B. Procedure for conducting PhD Admissions -

i) For Regular PhD (With Institute Fellowship)

- a) RDS will collect the areas from all faculty members of IITA (irrespective of their current department of association) in which they would like to supervise a research scholar in earning his/her PhD. Some interdisciplinary areas will also be defined wherein two prospective faculty names will be mentioned for possible joint supervision. It will be published in the advertisement and incorporated in the IITA's ONLINE application portal. Moreover, there may be a rolling advertisement for Admission in PhD Program with the 2-3 suitable deadlines decided by the Dean(R&D) as per the needs of the institute. As soon as the deadline is defined, a small advertisement may be published in any leading newspaper's all India edition as may be decided by the Dean(R&D), along with the programs at B ii) & iii) below.
- b) At the time of filling the ONLINE form the applicant is also required to submit a note (about 500 words) on the interesting research findings in the chosen area. The candidates will submit the details as desired in the online application portal. After the last date, the application will be downloaded by the concerned department.
- c) This research proposal will be sent to the respective faculty member(s) (automatically through the portal). If anyone of these faculty members submit an affirmative recommendation to RDS within a given deadline (after duly verifying the eligibility criteria), and if he/she has a vacancy too, then the application of such a candidate will be forwarded to a suitable department for further processing, as may be decided by the SPGC. It may be a different department than the parent department of the chosen faculty. The vacancy under a faculty is governed by the maximum number of students under a faculty as may be defined by the Dean(R&D) from time to time. A faculty may recommend a maximum of 3 times the number of candidates for the available vacant seats under him/her.
- d) Each department should conduct a written test for all applicants as mentioned in (i) above. The department should preferably include 60 MCQs (attempt any 30 questions choice which may weigh 30 Marks) from the areas chosen by these group of candidates as well as subjective questions (from different areas with 'attempt any one choice' which may weigh another 30 Marks, it may include programming too.) in the written test. If needed (e.g. total applicants are too much), the department may screen out some applicants based on the written score. Each department may constitute a suitable number of interview panels and conduct the interviews in ONLINE mode (which may weigh 40 marks). The cut off on total score for each category should be explicitly defined by the department while submitting a comprehensive report to the AR(RD) for placing before the Chairman Senate through Dean(RD) and Dean(R&D). As the written and interviews are to be conducted in the ONLINE mode so there is no need of conducting both parts on the same day. However, all interview panels of a department must meet simultaneously and prepare the final result as soon as all interviews are over, on the same day. Reasons for scoring a student below 30% (i.e. below 12 marks) by the interview panel. The department will shortlist the applications as per department as per guidelines of PhD Ordinance. The department may also add other conditions for short listing of the application other than the minimum conditions as laid down in PhD ordinance in consultation with Dean (R&D) and will send the intimation to the shortlisted applicants. The written test followed by the interview will be conducted by the department for the screened in candidates. The department may from the board, separate written test, interview panels etc if needed as per the specialization. The department shall also take prior approval of the interview board from the Director through Dean, RD. The final weightage of written and interview board shall be 60:40. Normalization if required may be done by the department. Prior approval from the Director through Dean(RD) shall be required in case any changes in the above ratio is done. The total marks shall then be submitted by the Department through Dean (R&D) for final approval. HoD of the concerned department will do the needful as per the timeline mentioned in Advertisement. After the approval from the Director, RDS Section shall then declare the result and will inform the applicant.

- e) The Chairman Senate may raise or lower various cutoffs as he may deem fit while considering these comprehensive reports of various departments. The RDS will issue the letters to the selected candidates as approved by Chairman Senate, verify the eligibility and other relevant documents and if found in order then admit the candidate.
- f) The procedure for admission through the workshop (minimum 5 days duration) is also similar. The coordinator and the main teacher may conduct a written test followed by an interview and submit the recommendations to AR(RD). Suitable interview panel may be constituted by Dean(R&D). In the workshop brochure it must be explicitly mentioned that PhD admissions may also be considered for workshop participants.

ii) For Regular Ph.D. (With external funding i.e. NO financial support by IIITA):

The eligible candidates may apply any time through the ONLINE portal and their applications may be processed through the chosen supervisor, DPGC, Dean (RD) just like WP mode applications are currently processed. Provisional admission will be offered to the selected candidates, but the confirmation will be done only after they start receiving the financial assistance from the external funding agency with a deadline given by the Dean(RD), who may also extend it as he may deem fit. Failing which the admission stands cancelled i.e. these candidates can never be converted into institute fellowship category.

iii) For Ph.D.(Working Professional Mode):

In addition to the current practice, the candidates possess B.Tech. or equivalent degrees may be allowed. If admitted and then for any reasons such a candidate failed to complete PhD then he/she may be allowed to get a MTech (by research) degree (if credit requirements for earning this degree is satisfied) at the time of exit. Further, the employees of Central/State Govts, Autonomous bodies like ISRO, DRDO etc PSUs, and other similarly placed organizations the NOC issued as per their own format may be acceptable.
